GERMANS AS CONQUERERS.

Features of the Troops' Return to Berlin.

Copenhagen, December 12.

On the entry of Prussian Guards into Berlin the bands played "Deutschland Uber Alles" and other patriotic songs, but not a single Revolutionary tune. The officers and men were decorated with flowers. A stupendous crowd welcomed them as conquerors. This was the keynote of a speech by Herr Ebert, who said they returned with heads erect, unconquered. The building up of a new and stronger Germany depended on them. A sergeant, replying, repudiated Herr Liebknecht, adding that the watchword of the troops was "Tranquility."

Troops Warmly Welcomed.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE ON PEACE REQUIREMENTS.

London, Dec. 9.

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at Bristol, said that conscription was introduced in Britain to meet a great emergency. When the need had passed the Act would lapse and there was no intention to renew it. The Peace Conference would be urged to abolish the Continental conscript armies in order to prevent the horrors of war and secure a permanent peace. The Peace Conference perpetuating European conscription would be a farce and a sham. The British Navy was a defensive not an offensive weapon, therefore we did not mean to give it up. (Cheers). The Premier reiterated that as far as Germany's capacity admitted she must pay the cost of the war to the last penny. The Allies' war bill was $24,000,000,000 sterling. It was inconceivable that losers who were in the wrong should pay less than winners who were in the right. The Premier here pointed out that owing to our naval expenditure and the way Britain had paid and treated her soldiers our war bills were immensely more heavy than Germany's. Our European Allies were unanimous that the ex-Kaiser and his accomplices must be held responsible for their war crimes and he hoped President Wilson had decided similarly. Information in the possession of the Government showed that the ex-Crown Prince was probably the prime instigator of the war. Mr. Lloyd George deprecated Germany paying her indemnities by the dumping of sweated goods. He was against keeping for a long time a large standing army for the occupation of Germany which would be bad business industrially. German aliens would not remain long in Britain, they were going to be fired out and there would be no more coming in. (Loud cheers).

Mr. Lloyd George's speech was addressed to an audience composed exclusively of women electors. He said that over a million women had been engaged in munition making, 380,000 in land work, 222,000 in Navy and Army auxiliary nursing services, and scores of thousands in the civil service. We could not have won the war without these women. Peace must be sternly just as well as equitable. There must be no "Alasce-Lorraine" whereby we should be making the same mistakes as Germany made in 1871.

DEVELOPMENT OF AVIATION.

London, Dec. 9.

Many interesting points connected with the future development of aviation are touched on in the report of the Civil Aerial Transport Committee of the Air Board. The Committee urges the immediate commencement of preliminary work, such as enquiries regarding routes, landing grounds and aerodromes and the immediate establishment of a research bureau. Regarding commercial aviation the Committee declares that, given proper facilities, there is nothing impossible in sending mails aerially from London to Calcutta in four days and from London to Johannesburg in six days.

The report urges a preliminary discussion with the Dominions and Allies on broad questions of principle and Empire-wide propaganda in order to convince the whole Empire of the vast importance and possibilities of aerial transport. It also emphasises the importance of uniform legislation as far as possible throughout the Empire on aeronautical matters and of avoiding any appearance of dictating to the Dominions or in any way infringing their autonomy.

Dealing with overseas traffic the Committee point out that the Dominions and India, owing to their great geographical areas, and the wide distances which in many cases separate their important centres of population, offer a fruitful field for the development of civil aeronautics. The Committee emphasises that the improvement of inter-Imperial communications is likely to have an important bearing on the problem of future inter-Imperial relations.

THE INFLUENZA SCOURGE.

Melbourne, Dec. 9.

The prospects of keeping Australia free of influenza are more hopeful. No cases have occurred outside the quarantine stations. Many Anzacs are quarantined. A Wellington message says the influenza outlook is improving everywhere.

Reuter's correspondent at Amsterdam quotes a Java message which says it is officially estimated that one million cases of influenza have occurred in the Dutch Indies.

The "Times" correspondent at New York states that the deaths of civilians in the United States from Spanish influenza and pneumonia since 15th. September are approximately 350,000. The deaths in military camps are over twenty thousand.

SUPPORT FOR GERMAN GOVERNMENT.

Copenhagen, Dec. 11.

The solemn entry into Berlin yesterday of large formations of Prussian Guards was an important political event because it means strong military support for the Government. Representatives of the Guards took oaths promising absolute loyalty to the Government. The Independent Socialists vainly exhorted the troops to disarm and the Spartacists are much alarmed at the new turn of events. The troops who included a specially formed battalion composed of all German races were received at the Brandenburg by the Empire and City officials. The railway stations and squares and other places were lavishly decorated. The German Finance Minister, Herr Schifferer, in a speech complained of money being squandered on unnecessary State management. The new War Tax Bill will be introduced immediately with retrospective effect into 1914.

After a long examination at Berlin Herr Thyssens and others (Industrialists) have been released.

BUKOVINA JOINS RUMANIA.

Paris, Dec. 11.

The National Council of Bukovina has proclaimed the union of Bukovina with Rumania.

CHINESE UNREST.

Another Southern Declaration.

The Canton Intelligence Bureau issues the following:—

Mr. Hsu Chu-jen (Hsu Shi Chang) Peking.

Your telegram of 5th inst. received. Our desire has always been peace. But we also recently received a telegram from Mr. Chien Kan-chen (Chien Nong Hsun) the contents of which, we think, will obstruct the principle of equality of footing and the future of the peace conference. We find the terms "only Government," etc. in his telegram which we shall never recognise. It is requested that you act according to our telegram of the 30th that a peace conference will still be held at Shanghai; that ten representatives are to be appointed by each side and in addition each shall appoint a chief representative so that a Chairman of the Conference can be dispensed with. If you agree to the above suggestions please inform us of the names of your representatives and we shall do likewise.

According to Mr. Chien Kan-chen's telegram of the 4th inst. Shensi is being treated as bandit territory. We are very much surprised by his contention. As everybody knows that Shensi is under the banner of the Constitutionalists it is not possible that you should invade it on all sides under the pretext of hunting robbers. If peace is genuinely desired both Northern and Southern forces at Shensi may agree upon fixed places to station their troops. In case there are bandits within the places under their control each force may suppress them separately. It will not do to place Shensi outside of the zone of armistice by merely saying that there are robbers in the province.

Furthermore according to reports received by us, a mixed brigade of Fengtien troops, (commanded by Wang Yung Chou); the regiment commanders are Chen Chung Hsien and Kuo Wei Yo, chief of staff is Chang Hang Hsien, has been sent to Chakiang, and is being dispatched to Fokien in two routes; one starting from Ningpo to Foochow by sea (one battalion of artillery men has already set forth on board the cruiser Chao-wa) while the other starting from Chu Chow to Yen Ping via the border of Kiangsi (about two regiments of infantry together with machine guns, engineering and commissariat corps had already set forth from Hangchow on the 21st of last month).

Thus the North is in name ceasing hostilities while in reality it is provoking them. It is evident as to who shall bear the responsibility should hostilities be resumed and the above mentioned telegram of the 4th inst. is solid proof. To place Shensi outside of the zone of armistice, to advance soldiers in Fokien, are facts which indicate that you do not wish for peace. If hostilities on all the fronts are not actually stopped how can a conference be opened for peace? Therefore, the settlement of the questions of Shensi and Fokien must be a condition precedent to any discussion as to the method of holding the peace conference. Please give us a definite and clear answer to the above.

Henceforth we hope you will communicate with us direct in order to show your sincerity. — Tsen Chuan-hsien; Fu Ting-feng; Lu Ying-tung; Yang Chih-yao; Sun Yui; Tang Sheng-yi and Lin Pei.

GENERAL NEWS.

Chinese in Ecuador.

In Ecuador there are strong protests against the tremendous immigration of the yellow race.
An Ecuadorian newspaper says that the Chinese are masters of all the commerce, proprietors of large cocoa plantations, own commercial establishments, and are getting control of national agriculture. They own several boats used for river navigation, are beginning mining industries,
and getting control of mines.
The journal points out that this is a danger to the country and should be put a stop to.

Air-Mail a Success.

Air-mail service between Washington, Philadelphia, and New York was conducted during the month of September without a single interruption. September marked the first complete month of the service under civilian direction, the War Department, which conducted the service at its inauguration, having turned over the service to the Post Office Department August 12. During the month there were only three forced landings, and these were not such as to interrupt the flight. More than seven tons of mail were carried.

Catholic "Army" Ready.

The "army of one million

United War Work campaign when the drive was launched, is ready to take the field. The force has gone through the training period, and is waiting the orders of the United War Work campaign national field director of the United War Work campaign and counsellor to the administrative committee of the National Catholic War Council campaign, said that in practically every State the campaign machinery of the Roman Catholic Church had been woven into that of the United War Work organization.

THE PARIAS.

The American President's latest reply to the German people typifies the sentiments of most of the nations of the world. Mr. Wilson has become, ever since America's entry into the war, the virtual spokesman of the Allied combination, and his latest statement can be taken as embodying the universal opinion of the Allied countries. It is interesting to watch the workings of the German mind, for there can be no doubt that this latest suggestion, that President Wilson should visit Germany, is only another example of their underhanded intrigue, on which, in spite of what has happened, they still seem to pin some hopes. We have seen their efforts in this direction ever since America joined hands with the Allies. They have always sought to sow dissension between the United States and the Entente, and we have seen how signally they have failed. Even when they sued for peace, they attempted to discuss the matter with President Wilson alone, but this effort was fruitless, for Mr. Wilson merely left it in the hands of the military commanders. One would have thought that the Germans would have learned a lesson from this, but apparently they are making another attempt.

There must be some big reason for their latest request. The Entente is making many just but terrible demands, and Germany can see nothing in front of her but utter ruin. Shorn of her colonies, her navy, her guns and her finances, she thinks perhaps that she will obtain a mitigation in the peace terms. America's foreign policy has never been one of acquisition, a fact of which the Germans are fully aware. They also know that America is to be feared the least of all the Allies, not that it is the least powerful, but because its demands will probably be the least exacting in the face of the nature of its policy. It was a bold stroke to invite Mr. Wilson to Germany, but this, their last desperate move, has been in vain. Nothing could be more terse or damning than the American President's reply. "The German people will need long years of repentance to atone for their crimes and prove their sincerity. No true American can yet think of making the journey to Germany unless forced by strictly official obligations. I refuse any suggestion of this nature." It is a crushing blow to their last little shred of hope. Mr. Wilson has dissipated once and for all the German idea that dissension can be sown among the Allies. The union of nations that have fought side by side, and triumphed so gloriously is not to be shattered by the insidious efforts of a country whose crimes and inhumanities fill the blackest pages in the world's history.

Mr. Wilson has also put in words the sentiments of the whole world. For many years to come, the Germans must remain the parias of Europe: never before has a race been so anathematized, and it will take centuries to wash out its four years of terrible wrong-doing. A German will always be looked on with contempt and suspicion, simply because he belongs to a nation which has proved itself to be a nest of infamy and frightfulness. It has fought crookedly and cruelly, and it has lost ignominiously. Even if the Germans in the future were to change their ways, a contingency which is very improbable, no one would trust them, for it would only be considered another instance of their policy of lying deceit and high sounding verbosity. Germany will be an outcast for many long years. We in Hongkong have recently sent to the Home Government a strong request that Germany be not permitted to enter the Colony for several years. President Wilson's statement only goes to prove how just and fitting are our demands. None of us are perfect, but we have no desire to mix once more with the representatives of a nation which is bid to the core. We think that Mr. W. A. S. Hewins should do more than "consider the matter," as he stated in the House of Commons recently when it was brought up.

War Savings.

It is gratifying to see that the local War Savings Association is still going strong. The latest list of subscriptions reflects the fact that the public still makes use of this most admirable institution for the purpose of saving money and at the same time rendering financial aid to the Empire, for it will be noted that the amounts received are all invested in Straits Settlements War Loan. This is an excellent security, carrying five and a half per cent. interest, and it is additionally attractive just now from the fact that the present exchange is most favourable for conversion. During last month, besides considerable sums in other currencies, over $50,000 in Hongkong money and $30,000 in Straits currency was paid in, the amounts varying from $6,500 down to the humble $5. The latest list shows that apart from large amounts the Association is proving itself a useful medium for the securing of small sums, all of which total up in the course of a year and, with interest, make the investments worth while. To have secured in Hongkong currency alone a sum of over two million dollars is no mean feat, and the work which has been voluntarily undertaken by the Union Insurance Society in this regard is beyond praise.

For the Red Cross.

A very happy idea of assisting the Red Cross funds has been hit upon by a local horticultural enthusiast who is well known for the excellent roses which he grows and with which he has won many successes. With a spirit that is much to be admired, he is, from Monday next, going to put his best blooms on sale in the form of button-holes, and from the proceeds secured the Red Cross will benefit. The result should be the obtaining of quite a good sum, especially since these blooms are, through the kindness of a well-known lady horticulturist, to be sold in such a popular rendezvous as the Hongkong Hotel. In a place like Hongkong, it requires great care and attention to raise the type of roses which are to be sold, and for that reason the good-heartedness of the donor of these blooms is all the more to be commended. In Shanghai, incidentally, there has long been a British Flower Shop, to which gifts have been regularly given by residents and disposed of for the benefit of the Red Cross. If this new Hongkong venture meets with the success expected, it might possibly be a good plan to organize, even now, some such scheme as this, for it is certain that the Red Cross funds will need replenishing for a considerable time yet.

Wrongful Diversion.

Judging from reports, the Canton authorities are still short of that very essential commodity known as money. Since the establishment of the Military Government there must have been a thousand and one schemes conceived and put into execution for "raising the wind," some legal and some quite the reverse. Indeed, the poor tax-ridden people have been bled white by the new fiscalism. A report which we published yesterday stated that the latest idea, said to emanate from Wu Tingfang, is to issue so-called National Bonds to the value of ten million dollars, these to be repaid in four years from the surplus salt revenues of the Southern Provinces. What we are interested in, however, is the right of the Canton authorities to touch the salt revenues at all. There has already been more than one protest made against this illegal diversion of salt and Customs revenues, and yet at this time of day, even when the status of the Southern molesters is in the balance, we have an idea of this sort seriously trotted forth. What surprises us also is that Dr. Wu, who is certainly one of the shrewdest of China's leaders, should be associated with such a proposal. We can only hope that there is no solid foundation for the report.

Theft of Cement Bags.

Death of Mr. C. A. McAllum.

Many readers will hear with deep regret of the sudden death, at Ilkley, of Mr. C. A. McAllum, if he had not brought himself into the limelight by committing larceny. Mr. Melbourne, to-day informed the bachelors that from the police nothing is concealed, also their memory is good. They had not forgotten the banishment order, and, likewise, they would not forget to punish those who disobeyed their orders. Mr. Melbourne remembered that six months' hard labour for returning from banishment and two months' hard labour for larceny were the punishments for these offences.

In the Limelight.

A Chinese was banished some time ago, but the attractions of Hongkong tempted him to return. That might have been all right if he had not brought himself into the limelight by committing larceny. Mr. Melbourne, to-day informed the bachelors that from the police nothing is concealed, also their memory is good. They had not forgotten the banishment order, and, likewise, they would not forget to punish those who disobeyed their orders. Mr. Melbourne remembered that six months' hard labour for returning from banishment and two months' hard labour for larceny were the punishments for these offences.

The Vanishing Trick.

A Chinese tried to smuggle ten tons of opium ashore from the sea. Wa Hon. Deviating but little from the usual yarn, when caught, the opium smuggler said somebody gave him the opium to carry ashore but, as usual, the "somebody" had mysteriously vanished. They always do vanish, for the simple reason they exist only in the imagination of the opium smuggler, who, in this case, will also see $750 vanish into the hands of the Government via Mr. Wood. The final vanishing trick in the act will be that of the smuggler himself, who will disappear for three months if the $750 necessary for performance of the first trick is not forthcoming.

POLICE RESERVE DANCE.

A Happy Evening at the City Hall.

Last night's fancy dress dance, organised by the Superintendent, Inspectors, Sergeants and Constables of the Police Reserve, and held in the City Hall, must be written down as another triumph in post-war pastimes.

Nearly five hundred dancers attended and included representatives of seven nationalities, namely, British, American, Portuguese, Indian, Chinese, Norwegian and Japanese, and it is roughly estimated that 60 per cent. were in fancy costume, and certainly quite that proportion took part in every dance on the programme, which consisted of fifteen ordinary dances and three extras. In addition to this extras followed every dance.

The entrance to the City Hall presented a very pretty sight. The massive pillars were entwined with garlands of flowers and pot plants in bloom, intermingled with palms and lined each side of the entrance hall and the stairway. For the dancing, the whole of the upper part of the City Hall had been reserved and was decorated with a profusion of flags. The floors of the two large Halls had been carefully prepared and planed, and made very acceptable dancing surfaces. Comfortable sitting-out sofas were also provided, in fact every convenience desirable for such a function had been thoughtfully prepared and carefully arranged. Even the non-dancers had been considered, a card room being provided for their use.

Dancing commenced at 9 o'clock, the band of H.M.S. under Bandmaster Fitch, striking up for the first dance punctually to time. Simultaneously a feeling of conviviality was engendered and a most enjoyable evening was looked forward to. The dancing was continued to well after midnight and all voted the function a great success in every possible way.

The costumes were both numerous and clever, and the ingenuity in "calico" was striking. There were a representation of Hilda Cowden's Picture of a Girl, Land Products, Camouflage, Portugal, Night, Fairy, W.A.A.C. Pekoe, French Chef, Tonio, from the Daughter of the Regiment, Parsee, Vivandiere, Carmel, Indian Prince, Bazar, Convict 99, Early Victorian Policeman, Malay, King George, Whisky, Japanese Buddhist Priest, Spanish Inquisitor, and dozens of representations of Perrot, Pierrette, Clowns, Chinese and many very original costumes that defied description.

Those that drew particular attention by reason of their ingenuity included Mephistopheles (Mr. da Souza). In this dress there were arranged a number of tiny electric lights which the wearer switched on and off with striking effect. A Courier of the period of Louis XVI (Mr. Leo D'Almada) was very effective. The representation of Tonio, in calico, (Mr. da Souza, Portuguese Consul) was excellent. A man in night shirt with candle and poker, apparently looking for a burglar was well presented by Mr. F. C. Jenkin Policeman and Convict coupled together was very amusing and Mr. Abraham as a skeleton, presented a most gruesome appearance.

A very clever representation of the South China Morning Post, was presented by Miss Ruby Mow Fung. The costume was based upon a patriotic scheme and was printed over its entire surface with matter of one of the latest issues of the paper represented. Over the dress there was a "barque" which was cleverly worked out to represent a newspaper poster. This was realistically imitated "The Best Advertising Medium in the Colony." The entire costume was made of calico. One of the most striking costumes was the Daily Press (Mr. Ross). This was thought to be so excellent that the judges awarded a special prize. Upon looking at this costume from a distance it was difficult to tell what the representation was intended to be, but closer inspection revealed a newspaper, or rather a

CORRESPONDENCE.

(The opinions expressed by correspondents are not necessarily those of the Hongkong Telegraph.)

TO AUSTRALIANS.

(To the Editor of the Hongkong Telegraph.)

Sir,—Understanding that there are at present in the House of Detention two Australians— young boys only their teens— may I suggest, through the medium of your columns, that a fund be raised by Australians and others interested for the purpose of assisting these boys?

The nationals of one of our Allies have assisted one of their countrymen to get out of the above-mentioned place and find employment, and it behoves all good Australians to do likewise.

I am a poorly paid clerk myself but would be glad to subscribe $5 towards such a fund. And perhaps, Mr. Editor, you would be kind enough to take care of subscriptions.

Trusting that this appeal will meet with ready response.

Yours etc.

VICTORIAN.

Hongkong, Dec. 14, 1918.

[We sympathise with the viewpoint of the writer, but suggest that Australians interested in the matter should get together and devise some means of assisting these lads by employment or otherwise.—Ed. H.K.T.]

Stealing Beds.

When one gets too lazy to make one's bed after rising in the morning there is only one thing to do—have two beds. A Chinese coolie tried this scheme, but he omitted to pay for the duplicate bed before he took it. Mr. J.B. Wood wanted time to consider the punishment to fit this heinous crime and told the bed stealer to stand down.

costume with printed matter distributed all over it. We promptly wrote him down simply "Newspaper," but then we happened to glance at the head-dress, which represented a pestle pot and brush, the latter being inverted to form a cockade. We knew immediately by this realistic part of the representation, that our original description was wrong. Of course! Quite easy! It was the Daily Press. This was confirmed by the title appearing on the back of the costume.

After the fifth dance the parade for the judging took place, and the judges must have found it a difficult task, so good were the costumes. The ladies' prizes were eventually awarded to Miss Marshall, as Foot Product, first prize; Mrs. Leo D'Almada, Vivandiere, second prize. For the gentlemen, Mr. Franks as Convict 99 secured the first prize and Mr. Ward, as Camouflage, second prize. As stated above a special prize was awarded Mr. Ross. The prize was a silver mounted scent bottle, a cut glass cent bottle, a safety razor on glass and a silver cigarette case respectively. Mr. Ross's prize was not decided upon. The officials deserve all praise for their assiduous attention to the guests and the successful conclusion of the function was largely due to their untiring efforts. The officials were as follows:—

Joint Masters of Ceremonies:—Inspector A. E. Alves and P.O. 659 G. Grimble. Organising Secretary:—Staff Inspector Arcalli. Treasurer:—Staff Inspector Tape. General Committee:—Deputy Superintendent F. C. Jenkin, Chairman and members of all Sub-Committees. Invitation Committee:—The D.S.P. (B), Staff Inspector Arcalli, Staff Inspector Tape, Sergeant 650 Aitken, Dance and Music Committee:—P.O. 659 G. Grimble, P.O. 618 Yvanovich, Orchestra Conductor Gorsalek. Refreshments Committee:—Inspector A. E. Alves, Staff Inspector Whitcomb, P. O. 769 Lopes, P. O. 636 White. Bar Committee:—Chief Inspector Wong, Inspector Botelho, P. O. 712 Tarant, Trooper 704 Hodge, P. O. 670 Hobbs, P. O. 492 Mard. Decoration Committee:—Inspector Ribeiro, Staff Inspector Clarke, Inspector Gagg, Sergeant 642 Britto, Trooper 95 Chan Mak Hong. Judges:—Mrs. F. C. Jenkin, Mrs. Redmond, Mrs. G. P. Jordan, Mrs. Wei Wing Lok.

TO-DAY'S MISCELLANY.

No industry unless it be coal-mining, has such a history of strikes and unrest as the Lancashire cotton manufacture. And no strikes have been more terrible than those amongst the spinners. The first great strike was in 1853, when all the mills in Preston closed down over a dispute for a 10 per cent. increase of wages, and thirty-six weeks passed before a compromise was effected and the starving operatives were compelled to return to their looms. Another memorable strike was that of 1878, when the workers refused to accept a reduction of wages and the masters closed down all the mills in North and North-east Lancashire, throwing 120,000 men out of work. Riots broke out, mills were burnt down, and heavy street fighting followed the summoning of military assistance. After two months the men, as was usual in those days, were forced by hunger to submit. Briefer strikes followed at frequent intervals until 1891, when a dispute at Ollibrook resulted in the second longest cotton strike on record. It lasted for twenty-five weeks.

Paper is scarce, so if you lose your rationbook its replacement may in the near future cost you sixpence, says a Home paper. Several local food committees, indeed, in the North have decided to make a charge of sixpence for the issue of a new book. Should the idea be taken up by the Food Ministry a nice amount could be handed to the Treasury. On the basis of our present population something like $750,000 could be realised from this source. And if an extra cover were provided to the books and let as advertising spaces (non-food advertisements only), each city having its own contributors, the cost of making and printing might be covered independent of the charge to the public.

A correspondent who says he would not now give a penny for the Havana cigar which he used to enjoy at a far higher price communicates to the Manchester Guardian, for the benefit of mankind in general, the secret of a richer and cheaper joy. We have not tried it yet (says the journal)—the fields have been rather too slushy for botanising these last few days,—but as the season will soon be over we hasten to hand it on to more adventurous spirits, in the full light of that prudent maxim of the common law which bids the purchaser take great care of himself. The tip is that the coltsfoot plant is a very good substitute for tobacco. You should look for the brightest leaves—you will find them, about as big as your hand, in places so diverse as a cornfield, a railway embankment, and a brickfield,—and you should dry them slowly into fine tobacco-like leaves. (The firmer you keep your mind fixed on tobacco the better it will be.) A little admixture of the real stuff—under cross examination the correspondent admits adding anything from a quarter to half himself—will improve the taste, and the more you add the more powerful will be the illusion. Anything saving has its value in these days.

"Dress Regulations" for the British officer have a habit, in spite of all the A. P. M.'s, of being modified to suit individual tastes. But I saw walking down the street the other day (writes "G") to a Home paper) a spectacle that would have caused the immediate death of some commanding officers I know. The full lieutenant who provided it was certainly clad in khaki tunic and slacks. But the fabric happened to be what drapers I believe, describe as "shot." Only in its central range was it the official line—its extremities rippled off into a golden autumnal brown, and at the other end a delicate and beautifully iridescent green. And naturally, as the gentleman walked, at no moment was his colour scheme stable—wave after wave of new and shimmering off his flanks over him with every stride. It was rather like a large gold fish swimming down the street. The R.A.F.—who have certainly done their best to achieve distinction in the way of costume—would have fainted with envy at the sight.

the Club rooms at 5 p.m. tomorrow, the "knights of the cue" close and interesting game is anticipated, Mr. Stokes, if anything, being a slightly better favourite than the American

"crack".

Sanitary Board.

December 21.—The Sanitary Board met this afternoon and discussed, at some length, the question of flushing drains which was ultimately left to the Government. The question of insufficient water supply—only five gallons a day for Chinese—was left until next meeting. A committee was appointed to investigate the shark fin nuisance.

River Steamer Arrested.

December 21.—The Canton river steamer Kwong-hoi was arrested by the Marshal of the Admiralty Court, to day, in connection with damages arising out of the fatal collision with a jack.
Security has been given and the steamer was released and leave

SHIPPING NEWS.

Oil-Driven Warships.

Messrs. Kermode's, Limited, Liverpool, who have recently supplied their oil fuel system for important groups of war vessels for the French Government, are in receipt of an order for two further groups of war vessels.

New Shipping Company.

A number of Chinese business-men abroad propose to establish a marine transportation company under the style of the Chinese-Pacific Steam Navigation Company, says "The Manchuria Daily News," and have arranged to charter half a dozen steamers for that purpose from the China Merchants Steam Navigation Company, at the total charterage of $151,000 per month.

N.Y.K. Service.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha abandoned the call at Antwerp on its subsidised European line owing to the war, but now that the armistice has been signed, it has been making arrangements to resume the service to that port. As Antwerp has severely suffered from German vandalism, the company has decided to call for the present at Rotterdam. This service will be re-opened as soon as sufficient cargo is collected.

A 33,000 ton Dreadnought.

The lifting of the censorship has revealed that one great Super-Dreadnought authorized in 1916 in the three-year building programme of the United States is well advanced. The keel of the 33,000-ton battleship was laid after America went to war, and despite the call upon the yard for 32 destroyers and submarines the vessel progressed satisfactorily. It will mount sixteen-inch guns and naval officials believe it will equal, if not be superior to, any warship afloat.

U.S. War Contract's Cancelled.

The cancellation of war contracts for American steel is being carried out without serious disturbance to the industry, says the "Japan Chronicle." Shipments abroad will be subordinate to food, pending a revision of priorities which is expected to make a move on the open market. The mills are ready to accept private business but little is offering. The activity of iron is confined to small sales. Copper is quiet and producers are considering a combination for export. Spelter is stiffening. Lead and tin are unchanged.

The Export of Iron.

According to a despatch received by a large Japanese firm in Kobe, the British Government has decided to give permission for the export of iron and steel to France and Belgium. In regard to Japan, permission will be given for limited quantities of certain specified varieties only. A further despatch states that the U.S. War Trade Board will permit the export of iron, steel and manufactures thereof to Japan without any restrictions as to quantity in regard to those orders which have already been received. Although it is understood that it will not yet be possible to get any large imports of shipbuilding materials into Japan, it is generally believed among Japanese merchants that it will not be long before the embargo abroad is completely removed, at least in regard to the Allies. According to information reaching Tokyo, the British Government has noticeably modified the control of iron and steel since the armistice.

Tensile Testing Charts.

It will be interesting to many shipping people to learn of the promotion, under the Ministry of Munitions, of Mr. E. Percy Coston, B.Sc., B.Eng., and of the Liverpool University staff. Engineering Department. Mr. Coston, who is the son of Mr. E. T. Coston, J.P.

In conformity with the armistice terms, the Germans have handed over to the Allies about $390,000,000 received from the Russians by virtue of the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk. The money has reached Paris and is deposited in the Bank of France for the joint account of the Allies.—Havas.

GERMANY'S BAD FAITH.

Paris, December 12.
The French Press states that the conditions imposed upon Germany will possibly be made more strict, owing to bad faith and other towns might be occupied, such as Mannheim, as a partial reprisal for French prisoners killed. The towns must pay an indemnity to the families of the men who have perished.—Havas.

ALSACE AND LORRAINE UNCONQUERABLE.

Paris, December 12.
Eloquent speeches on the occasion of the visit of the Government to Alsace and Lorraine were made in the Chamber of Deputies. M. Clemenceau said though the people of Alsace and Lorraine had endured martyrdom for 48 years, their spirit remained unconquerable and worthy of victory. The whole nation had returned a life example of determination, enabling men to sacrifice the greatest material things for an ideal.
It has been unanimously decided to placard both the speeches of M. Deschanel and M. Clemenceau.—Havas.

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

London, Dec. 9.
To-day the General Election campaign entered on its final week and both pace and interest have quickened. The number of contests with more than two candidates is unprecedented, indeed three-cornered fights are the rule rather than the exception. This fact is generally accounted for by the emergence of what might be called the new political world in which old party distinctions have largely disappeared, also by the doubling of the electorate by the Reform Act and the great change in the boundaries of constituencies. Nobody pretends to know how the new electorate will vote, particularly the women and soldiers, while a further complicating factor in the future political situation will be Sinn Fein representation which is likely to be fairly strong.

There are altogether 471 Coalition candidates, comprising 332 Unionists, 131 Liberals and 18 National Democrats.

The 1047 Non-Coalitionist candidates comprise the following: 75 Unionists, 253 Liberals, 376 Labourites, 12 Socialists, 10 Co-operators, 1 National Democrat, 23 Federation of Discharged Soldiers candidates, 21 National Partyites, 78 Sinn Feiners, 89 Irish Nationalists, 120 Independents and unclassified candidates, 7 Agricultural Partyites, 1 Women's Party candidate, 1 Coaler candidate, 1 Health candidate, 2 Highland Land Leaguers, 1 Seamen's candidate, 2 Teachers' candidates and 1 Town Tenants' League candidate.

Hamilton to be a Magistrate, and has authorised him to hold a Small Debts Court in the New Territories at the following places:—The charge-rooms of the Police Stations at Tuen Wan, Tai O, Tung Chung, Cheung Chai, and Yeung Shue Wan.

STALKY.

A Kipling Character.

General Dunsterville, commanding our forces in Persia, is none other than Kipling's "Stalky." Kipling was "Stalky" in the firm of "Stalky and Co.," and the two have kept up a fast friendship since the days of Westward Ho! Dunsterville is a well-known figure in India. Until recently he was in command of the 20th Punjab. His arrival in Mesopotamia was characteristically dramatic. A secret expedition was being organised for some mysterious mission in the north. Picked officers were detached for the adventure. No one was supposed to know where they were going or what they were going to do; only it became known that they were always changing bases at the Field Treasury for the Persian kera. The mystic word "Caspian" was in the air. Then, to complete the mystification, who should step on to the stage as their leader, a veritable god out of the machine, but "Stalky."

The other day General Dunsterville's name appeared in connection with the expedition for the first time, and it was officially divulged that "Stalky and Co." have penetrated as far as Baku, whence they have been compelled to withdraw on account of the defection of the Armenians.

"Stalky," as may be gathered from the pages of his prophetic chronicle, is a diplomatist as well as a soldier, and there is as much scope for diplomacy in the environment in which he now finds himself as for the high soldierly qualities which he is known to possess.

He speaks Russian like a Slav. In Peking he was the only Englishman who could converse easily with the representatives of the different Powers in their own tongue. In his command of Persia and all the patois of the North-West Frontier he is second to none. He has always been a good Persian scholar and no doubt he has mastered Kurdish and all the dialects of the tribes on the road to the Caspian long ago.

Another virtue that has already stood him in good stead is his remarkable control of his temper. In the early days of the expedition he ran into a hornet's nest of Bolsheviks, our late Allies, who explained angrily that they could not allow this, that, or the other, because they were now the friends of the Germans and the Turks and they might take it in ill part.

"Of course you would be," Stalky said. "I quite see your point of view. It would be impossible that you should be anything else. And now what about a little light refreshment?"

And Stalky gained his point.

New Road.

Tenders are being invited for the construction of the first section of the road contouring the hillsides in Wongneichong and Tai Hang Valleys.

Church Union in Australia.

A report circulated by the Melbourne Diocesan Council states that the most serious obstacle to the union of the Protestant Churches of Australia is the monastic anticlerical power of the Australian episcopate. A more democratic form of Church government is advocated.

Potash Production. The problem of increasing the potash production in the United States, so the American farmer will be permanently freed from the grip of Germany's monopoly of the world's supply of fertiliser, has been turned over to the Department of Agriculture for solution.

MARRIAGE OF PROMINENT FILIPINO.

Mr. M. Quezon Weds in Hongkong.

The marriage took place, at midday to-day, by the Hon. Mr. E. B. Hallifax, O. B. E., and in the presence of Mr. Anderson the American Consul General, and the members of the bridegroom's party, of Mr. Manuel Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate and head of the Philippine Mission to Washington D. C., to Miss Agorera Aragon. The marriage came quite as a surprise and even the members of the Mission did not suspect anything of the kind happening until they were invited, by Mr. Anderson, at eleven o'clock this morning, to be present at the ceremony.

It will be remembered that Mr. Quezon is the head of a Filipino Mission now in Hongkong and en route to the United States with the object of securing self-government for the Philippines. Mr. Quezon is regarded as one of the best men the islands have produced and the wedding will create a tremendous amount of interest in Manila, where both the bride and the bridegroom are prominent personages. The happy pair both come from Batangas, in the province of Tayabas. They are also well-known in Washington. Mrs. Quezon is a very talented young woman of 27 years of age, whilst her husband is 39 years. We wish the happy pair every happiness.

Every additional pound increases the demand on the motor, makes necessary more gasoline and oil, and results in greater wear on tyres.
